TOOK FEDERAL ATTORNEY BRECKONS FOR INTRUDER

Hearing of Libel Against Schooner Frank W. Howe Begun Before Commissioner Gill--Second Mate's Evidence.

Commissioner Gill began the preliminary hearing of the admiralty libel against the schooner Frank W. Howe yesterday afternoon.

Wm. McCallister, the second mate, testified regarding the amount of provisions taken on board and said that after the Howe left Mauritius the supply ran short. The men lived wholly upon soup, rice and curry, baked beans and salt beef. The potatoes gave out within a couple of weeks after leaving port, and the beef was so salty that the men refused to eat it, and they threw their food overboard. He testified that they got all the vinegar they wanted and drank rainwater because they thought it as good as any. Woods and Hall became sick and were unable to work. The men in the fore-cabin, he said, generally got the leavings from the cabin, and the bread was sometimes three or four days old. The steward was most to blame, according to the mate, though the provisions were not as good as he had been used to.

On cross examination the witness testified that there had been no discrimination between the cabin and the fore-cabin, and that the same kind of salt beef was served to all alike. The seamen always had plenty and there was no complaint about the soup. In fact, the trouble appeared to be over the cooking, and the witness said that he had a disagreement with the cook at the beginning of the voyage.

An amusing incident occurred at the beginning of the hearing. Mr. Kinney had never before met the United States attorney, and seeing him beside Assistant U. S. Attorney Dunne thought him a witness. He was saved from making a motion for the expulsion of the Federal attorney by an introduction to Mr. Breckons from Mr. Dunne.

A. team picked up and gave the Oahu College team a hard fight for the victory. The goals were made for the Punahou team by Florence Hall and for the Y. W. C. A. by Alice Jones, Lucy Roth and Irmgard Schaefer. The line-up was as follows:
